

From traceable fire-use synthesis to model-facing qualitative priors

The modeling crosswalk translates 51 canonical fire uses into five descriptor domains and explicit guidance for responsible model reuse.

Each crosswalk row represents one canonical use.

The five domains are organizational display groupings, not additional database fields.

Values support comparative scenarios—not operational burn prescriptions or measures of historical prevalence.